

Tax Process Automation

Are you spending too much time on compliance? If so, it may be worth exploring the possibilities automation can enable. Automation provides the opportunity to create robust and efficient processes and we make this possible for businesses by leveraging tools such as general automation workflow platforms e.g. Alteryx and Knime, or specialist tax compliance software with dedicated workflows, review processes, and checks. We also deploy bots for consistently repetitive tasks. Whatever your preference, you can be rest assured that BDO has invested a significant amount of time in the market building strong partnerships with vendors, understanding their products and delivering implementation excellence.

Alteryx

The market leader when it comes to workflow automation. With an approach centred around intuitive low-code development, Alteryx enables powerful automation with rapid development at scale. Through its expansive canvas, 'anything is possible!' The canvas is constantly evolving and supports emerging tech such as machine learning capabilities.

Knime

The market 'challenger', Knime is just as capable as its competitors with an open sourced model making the rates for its base product highly attractive. Knime also adopts a low-code philosophy to development and comes equipped with emerging tech such as AI and machine learning as standard.

Tax compliance software

If you're looking for a tool that is already fully formed, equipped with a workflow, review, audit, and automated checks features, then a specialist tax compliance tool is most likely to be suited for your requirements. We are preferred implementer for the major tools on the market including: TR, Vertex, Avalara, Tax Systems, Arkk, etc.

Bots

Processes such as downloading invoices from systems for sample check reviews can often be highly time consuming and laborious. Although these checks are essential, such manual processes are far from efficient. For consistently repetitive, high volume tasks, we deploy bots to free up your time to focus on the review exercise itself.
